GREAT BLESSING.

Rev. L. F. WARD, Avon, Lorain Co., O.,

Strong & Armstrong, Druggists, Cleveland.

Gen:—It gives me great pleasure to state that I have derived great benefit from the use of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure. She has been for a number of years troubled with Dyspepsia, accompanied by severe pains of constipation, which never gave her so much as a day's relief, but when she was all the while, for months, on nothing but Coe's Cure, and has derived GREAT BENEFIT from it, and is now comparatively well. I consider it a valuable medicine as a great blessing.

Truly yours, L. F. WARD.

CLERGYMEN.

Rev. ISAAC AIKEN, of Alleghany, testifies that he has, after all other remedies had failed, found

DRUGGISTS.

Druggist in the country will tell you, if you will trouble to enquire, that every one that buys Coe's Dyspepsia Cure from them, speaks in unqualified praise of its great medicinal virtues.

Coe's Dyspepsia Cure

Dyspepsia Cure has come to the Rescue.

Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache Heartburn or Acidity of Stomach, Rising of Food, Flatulency, Lassitude, Weariness, finally terminating in Death

Are surely cured by this potent remedy, as the patients themselves testify. Although but five years before the public, it has fully established the fact that is the verdict of the masses! Hear what Mr. Sexton, of Milwaukee, says:

RESOLUTION.

If you've any task to do, Let me whisper, friend, to you, Do it.

If you've any thing to say, True and needed, yea or nay, Say it.

If you've any thing to love, As a blessing from above, Love it.

If you've any thing to give, That another's joy may live, Give it.

If some hollow creed you doubt, Though the world would hoot & shout, Doubt it.

If you know what torch to light, Guiding others through the night, Light it.

If you've any debt to pay, Rest you neither night nor day— Pay it.

If you've any joy to hold Next your heart, lest it grow cold, Hold it.

If you've any grief to meet At the loving Father's feet, Meet it.

If you've given light to see What a child of God should be, Be it.

Whether life be bright or drear, There's a message sweet and clear Whispered down to every ear— Hear it!

JOHN WALTON'S REVENGE.

"Be off from here you little beggars!" said Oscar Ronalds, imperiously.

The speaker was a well-dressed boy of fourteen, and the words were addressed to a boy about his own age and his sister of eight. The contrast between their outward appearance was striking. Oscar was of a light complexion, and looked like a petted child of the aristocracy. He held a club in his hand, which, it might be judged from his scowling face, he would not be unwilling to use.

John Walton, who confronted him without fear, was a stouter boy than Oscar. His complexion was dark, his hair, black as a raven's wing, hung over his forehead. His clothing was coarse and well worn; his pants were tucked up nearly to his knees, and shoes and stockings were luxuries which he dispensed with. His little sister, terrified by Oscar's rude manner, clung to her brother in affright.

"Don't be scared of him, Lizzie," said John. "He won't dare to touch you."

"Won't I though?" said Oscar, clutching his stick tighter.

"Not if you know what is best for yourself," said John, looking fixedly at him.

"You have no business here, you beggars," said Oscar furiously.

"I'm no beggar," said the barefooted boy, proudly.

"This is my father's land. Can you deny that?" demanded Oscar.

"I know it is, and I suppose it will be yours some day."

"Then why have you intruded here?"

"I did not suppose it would do any harm to pick a few berries, which would otherwise decay on the vines."

"Then you know it now. I don't care for the berries, but I don't want any beggar's brats on my father's place."

"Stop there, young master," said John, firmly. "You called me a beggar, and I did not care much; but if you call my mother by that name, you will be sorry."

"I?" said Oscar very contemptously.—"What will you do?"

"I'll beat you with that stick you hold in your hand."

"Then I do call her a beggar," said Oscar, furiously. "What are you going to do about it?"

"You'll see."

John Walton let his sister's hand fall, and springing upon Oscar, he wrenched the stick from his hand, laid it over his back with sharp emphasis three times, and then threw it into the pool near by.

Leaving his young enemy prostrate, he took his terrified sister by the hand saying:

"We'll go home now, Lizzie."

Oscar picked himself up, mortified and furious. He would have pursued John and wreaked instant vengeance upon him had he dared, but in the hands of the young savage, as he mentally characterized him, he had felt his own utter inability to cope with him, and resolved that vengeance should come in another form.

"My father shall turn the beggars out of house and home," he muttered. "I wish they might starve."

The father of Oscar Ronalds was the proprietor of a handsome house and large landed estate, including several tenements which he rented out. In the poorest of these lived John Walton and his mother. They lived poorly enough; how, it would be hard to tell, but at all events they lived and never sought help.

When John told the story of his encounter to his mother, she was disturbed, fearing that trouble might come of it. So, indeed, it did.

The next morning Squire Ronalds, with his stiff, erect figure, was seen approaching the widow's cottage.

Mrs. Walton opened the door.

"Won't you come in, Squire Ronalds," she said, nervously.

"No, madam, I have but a word to say, and that is soon said. Are you aware that your boy grossly insulted my son, yesterday?"

"He told me that Oscar called him names, and he knocked him down. He has a hasty temper,"

"Your son is a ruffian, ma'am."

"Not so bad as that. He is a good boy to me, Squire Ronalds."

"It is a pity that he cannot treat others with respect."

"Do you think he was wholly to blame?"

"Certainly he was. My son caught him trespassing on my land, and he very properly ordered him off. I don't care to urge the matter. If he will apologize to Oscar, I will let it pass. Otherwise, as your mouth is up to-day, I shall require you to leave this tenement."

John, who had been inside and heard what had been said, came forward, looking resolute and self-sustained.

"I shall not apologize to Master Oscar, sir," he said. "It is he who should apologize to me."

"Apologize to you! That would look well; would it not?" said the Squire scornfully.

"It would be right," said John firmly.

"You are an impudent young rascal."

"Mother, said John, quietly, there is no use listening further. I shall not apologize and am ready to take the consequences. Do not be alarmed. I will take care of you."

"You must leave this house to-morrow," scowled the Squire in very undignified rage, stamping his gold-headed cane upon the ground.

"Very well," said John. "Good day, sir," and John closed the door, leaving the Squire under a vague impression that he had got the worst of the encounter.

"What shall we do, John?" said Mrs. Walton dismally.

"I'll tell you, mother. There is nothing for me to do here. We'll go to Brandon, where there are woolen mills. There I can get a chance to work, and I'll rise, never fear. It is best for us to go."

The next day Mrs. Walton's tenement was empty, and no one knew where the family had gone. Oscar exulted in what he regarded as his triumph.

Twenty years passed. To the bare footed boy they brought wonderful changes. At twenty-four he found himself superintendent of the mill where he had entered as a poor operative, earning a salary of five thousand dollars a year. He had built a handsome house, over which his mother presided with matronly dignity. His sister Lizzie was the wife of a young physician in successful practice in the same town.

One winter evening they were all seated in a luxuriously furnished room, before a glorious fire. His sister had come to spend the afternoon, but was prevented by the violent storm from returning to her own home.

"What a storm it is!" she exclaimed, wonderingly. "I pity those who are out in it."

"Yes," said her brother, "it is the most violent storm of the year. The snow must be two feet deep at least. But we need not feel troubled. It is summer in-doors."

"Who would have thought, John, that we should come to live in such comfort?" said his mother. "Twenty years ago we were poorly off."

"I well remember. It was a lucky thing we came to Brandon."

"So it has turned out. But I was alarmed when you quarreled with young Oscar Ronalds."

"I have forgiven him. The harm he intended has only done us good."

"Have you heard of him lately?" she inquired.

"Not lately. His father died ten years ago, and I'm told Oscar is very extravagant. That is all."

The storm increased in violence, shaking the house, firm and strong as it was. All at once the door bell rang sharply.

"I'll go myself," said John. "The servant may not be able to close the door again."

He opened the front door and a sharp cutting wind entered with a flurry of snow.

"Will you give me shelter?" said a faint voice.

It was a man who spoke, still young. He stepped in quite exhausted, and John Walton closed the door.

"You have had a hard struggle in the storm, have you not?"

"I have indeed. I am chilled to the bone."

"Come in to the fire," and John threw open the door of the sitting-room.

He perceived that the stranger had no overcoat and appeared thoroughly chilled. Warm bricks were ordered, and in half an hour he was more comfortable. He looked thin and haggard; his face bore the impress of dissipation.

He had more than once looked earnestly at John Walton. Finally he said abruptly:

"Will you tell me your name? Your face looks familiar."

"My name is John Walton."

"What?" said the other, with a start. "Did you live, when a boy, in the town of M——?"

"Yes, but I don't remember you."

"I am Oscar Ronalds," said the other, in a low voice.

"Is it possible?" exclaimed the three, and they involuntarily glanced at the ill-clad stranger.

"I see what you are thinking of. I do not look much like the boy you used to know. I have been wild and extravagant, and lost and squandered all my property. I have gone down hill—you have gone up."

"I am sorry for your misfortunes," said John, kindly. "If I can be of service to you, I will."

"I came here hoping to get the post of clerk, which I understood was vacant. If I had known that you were here, I would not have come."

"And why?"

"Because you cannot have forgotten my ill-treatment of you."

"It is not forgotten, but quite forgiven," said John Walton, kindly. "Unconsciously you did me a service. The clerkship you seek is mine to bestow. You shall have it, and I will guarantee your good conduct. The salary will be small—only eight hundred dollars."

"I will be a fortune to me, who am penniless. God bless you, John Walton, for your generosity. You shall not find your confidence ill bestowed."

I have no more to tell, except that then and there began a new and better life for Oscar, who was after a while promoted, and now has a modest and cheerful home of his own, with a good wife to add to his happiness. And this was John Walton's revenge—a noble and Christian revenge, the only one worth taking for an injury.

I WOULDN'T MARRY A MECHANIC.—A young man began visiting a young woman and appeared to be well pleased. One evening he called when it was quite late, which led the young girl to inquire where he had been.

"I had to work to night."

"What! do you work for a living!" she inquired, in astonishment.

"Certainly," replied the young man, "I am a mechanic."

"I dislike the name of mechanic," and she turned up her pretty nose.

That was the last time the young man visited the young woman. He is now a wealthy man, and has one of the best women in the country for a wife.

The lady who disliked the name of a mechanic is now the wife of a miserable fool, a regular vagrant about grog shops, and the soft, verdant and miserable girl is obliged to take in washing in order to support herself and children.

You dislike the name of a mechanic, eh? You, whose brothers are but well dressed loafers.

We pity any girl who has so little brains, who is so verdant, so soft, as to think less of a young man for being a mechanic—one of God's noblemen—the most dignified and honorable personage of Heaven's creation. Beware, young lady, how you treat young men who work for a living, for you may one day be menial to one of them yourself.

THE last sensation is the pleasure trip of Ex-Secretary Seward and party. They go to Chicago, whence they strike for Omaha, thence, by the Pacific railroad, for San Francisco; thence up the Pacific coast to Sitka, and an inspection of Mr. Seward's white elephant, called Alaska—the main idea—thence across the Pacific, touching the Sandwich Islands, to China and Japan; thence to Australia, and so on, by the Indian Ocean, to Bombay; thence to the Red Sea and the Suez Canal to Egypt, and thence by way of the Mediterranean homeward bound.

A VERY PRETTY STORY.

"How did you come to marry Mr. Marshall, Aunt Nannie?"

Mrs. Nannie Marshall wasn't my aunt, but I had called her so for years, for she was the kindest and truest friend I had ever had. She sat silent, knitting busily and smiling a little, before she answered me.

"It all came of shaking a crumb cloth," said Aunt Nannie.

"What! did you trip him up in its folds, and bring him down on his knees to you?"

"No; I'll tell you. When I was four years old my mother died. I do not know whether children of that tender age remember their mother as I remembered mine or not; but when I was so little that I sat in a high chair at the table, I would watch the chairs filling up around it with the persistent hope that my mother would come to sit by me; and I did not relinquish this hope after I was old enough to comprehend death, but clung to it, praying Christ to work a miracle, as in the old Bible times, and let my dear mother appear to my longing sight.

"Never was there a more affectionate or imagin

The Star and Sentinel.

Gettysburg, Friday, June 25, 1869.

ESTABLISHED.—A new Post Office has been established at Greenwood Franklin county, with Robert Black as Postmaster. This office is located between Graefenberg and Fayetteville.

PARASOLS.—Parasols of some light, delicate shade, are generally in vogue, the most distinguished being those lined with some contrasting color, as pink, green or blue.

FINE RADISH.—Mr. Charles W. Gilbert, of this place, has placed on our table, a fine perfectly developed Radish, raised by him, which measures 11½ inches in length, 9½ in circumference, and weighs 14 pounds.

ON THE BENCH.—On Tuesday last, at the meeting of the Orphans' Court, the commission of Judge HARPER was read, by direction of Judge Fisher, and Mr. Harper took his seat on the bench as a member of the Court.

LONG ROD.—Capt. A. H. McCreary, assisted by I. H. Moore, last week put up the lightning rod on the Gettysburg Springs Hotel. There are 642 feet of rod, and the highest point is 126 feet from the ground.—It is said to be the highest rod in the county.

LARGE BARN.—Mr. John Waugh, of Hamiltonban township, is putting up a Barn 100 by 60 feet, the largest in Carroll's Tract.

Messrs. F. and D. C. Sullivan, of same township, have finished a fine Barn 80 by 50 feet.

HAY-MAKING.—Our farmers are now busy making hay. There will be an unusually large yield in the county. The grain is beginning to show signs of ripening, and some will be ready to cut in a week or ten days. We hear of weevil in some quarters, but no material damage can be done, as the grain is already well filled.

TO GRADUATE.—We observe that J. FINLEY HOKE of this borough, and DAVID B. LADY of Arendtsville, are among the graduating class at the next commencement of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., which is to take place on Thursday, July 1. Mr. LADY carried off one of the College honors, being one of the Salutatorians.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday morning last, while Mr. James Rouzer was engaged on some carpenter work at the passenger depot, the scaffolding gave way just as he was about giving a cut with a hatchet in his right hand. The consequence was the hatchet struck the little finger on his left hand, cutting off the end of it.

THE TENTS.—The Secretary of War has ordered the tents which Mr. WILLS, President of the National Cemetery Association, applied for, to be furnished from Harrisburg. They will be put up in the grove west of the Seminary, where the fight opened on July 1, 1863, and where the gallant Reynolds fell.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—The Board of Managers of the Adams County Agricultural Society have fixed up Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the 28th, 29th and 30th of September for holding their next annual exhibition. The hall and grounds will be open on Monday the 27th for the reception of articles and stock for exhibition.

REMEMBER THE ORPHANS.—It is to be hoped that the friends of the Soldiers' Orphans will not forget to furnish them with a supply of small fancy articles, to dispose of during the approaching Dedication of the Soldiers' Monument next week. Materials for the Orphans themselves to make up, will be thankfully received at the Homestead, by Mrs. Hilton.

KILLED.—Maj. H. S. Benner, of this place, while crossing the South Mountain, on the old Shippensburg road, on Friday last, killed a Rattlesnake full four feet in length. It had 12 rattles, which the Major brought home with him as a trophy.—When attacked, instead of retreating, the snake proposed to make fight, but a well-aimed blow of a large club disabled him at once.

STILL COMING.—Capt. S. H. Eicholtz, in the last Compiler, adds his name to the list of candidates for Clerk of the Courts. The Democratic Convention will have a host of "patriots" anxious and willing to serve the people, from whom to make their selections. We have already 22 announcements—7 for Sheriff, 6 for Clerk, 4 for Register, 4 for Treasurer, and 1 for Director—with plenty more coming.

FESTIVAL.—We understand that the Strawberry Festival last week, got up by the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church, realized about $425, from which expenses are to be deducted. A handsome Gentleman's Gown was voted for, and the voting excited a good deal of interest. On Saturday evening the students of the College made a rally for Rev. Dr. VALENTINE, President of the College, and carried off the prize.

"STORING FOR A RISE."—We annex a suggestive paragraph from the Millersburg (Dauphin County) Register, illustrating the folly of keeping grain from market after it is ready:

"We have been informed that a farmer in this valley has stored away about a thousand bushels of wheat, for most of which he was offered almost three dollars a bushel, but wanting more, and in the hope of its rising in price, he held on until this quantity of grain has accumulated on his hands."

THE FIRST THROUGH PASSENGER.—We see it stated that Israel S. Diehl, Esq., late U. S. Consul to Java, was the first through passenger on the Pacific railroad. He was ninety-one hours making the trip from Omaha to Sacramento, and witnessed the driving of the "last spike" on the way. Mr. Diehl is a native of New Oxford, and well known as a very extensive and indefatigable explorer of remote regions. He returned about a year since from Central Asia.

GUIDE BOARDS.—The law requires guide boards to be placed at the forks of every road, and it is the duty of constables to report to the Court cases where the law has not been complied with. This is a useful provision, and beneficial to all classes of people. Nothing is more annoying than not to know which of two roads to take, especially when a long distance from a place where inquiries can be made.—Many townships of this county are entirely deficient in this respect. We would respectfully call the attention of Supervisors to this subject.

NATIONAL MONUMENT.—On Friday last work was commenced on the National Monument. Immense shears have been erected, with the necessary rigging, and workmen have been busy putting the stone in position. As much time has been lost in the transhipment of the stones, it will keep the contractor busy to get the monument up by the 1st. A double set of hands, however, will be worked, from 4 A. M. to 8 P. M., and if the weather be favorable the monument will go up rapidly.

We are requested by Mr. WARNER, who is superintending the erection of the monument, to say that visitors to the Cemetery will be required to keep at a safe distance, so as to guard against the possibility of accident. Although no difficulty is apprehended, yet in consequence of the immense weight of some of the stones and the height to which they are to be raised, a giving-way of some of the hoisting apparatus is possible at any moment. If this warning is not heeded by the public the gates of the Cemetery will be closed to visitors.

MASONIC.—The Masonic brethren of District No. 3 had an unusually interesting time in Shippensburg, on Friday evening last—on the occasion of the presentation of a memento to R. W. D. G. M., ROBERT H. THOMAS, as an expression of their high regard for his personal worth, and their appreciation of his intelligent, devoted and efficient official labors. The movement was initiated by Cumberland Valley Lodge No. 315, located at Shippensburg, and the programme of exercises was under its charge. Seven Lodges were represented, viz:—No. 143, Chambersburg; No. 260, Carlisle; No. 292, Orrstown; No. 392, Mechanicsburg; No. 336, Gettysburg; No. 361, Newville; No. 315, Shippensburg—as also No. 62, of Reading. The testimonial is a handsome gold-hunting-case watch, with appropriate inscriptions, and was presented by P. M. Henry Ruby in a neat address, which was responded to by District Deputy Thomas, in cordial acknowledgement of the high compliment, and tendering his heartfelt thanks to the brethren for their generous appreciation of his labors. After the presentation, the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, when over 200 sat down to a magnificent table, loaded with choice luxuries and tastefully decorated with boquets and flowers—the taste and delicate manipulation of the Shippensburg ladies being evident in the entire arrangement. After thoroughly testing the excellence of the abundant edibles, the cloth was removed, and a "Table Lodg'e" opened. A number of "toasts" appropriate to the occasion were drank, and responded to by D. D. G. G. M., R. H. Thomas; P. M., Geo. W. Brewer, of Chambersburg; P. M., M. C. Herman, of Carlisle; P. M., James B. Orr, of Orrstown; P. M. Emminger, of Mechanicsburg; W. M., J. F. McCreary, of Gettysburg; F. K. Ployer, of Newville; P. M., C. B. Ruby, of Shippensburg; W. M., W. K. Breinzer, of Reading, and other gentlemen. A number of the speeches were capital, eloquent, and abounding in good points. The festivities continued to a late hour, when the programme closed with "Auld Lang Syne" as a parting ode. It was a pleasant re-union, and will long be remembered by all who participated in it. The energy and large hearted hospitality of the brethren of Cumberland Valley Lodge made the banquet, in all its appointments, a decided success.

THE PAXTON FARM.—We clip from the St. Paul (Minnesota) Dispatch of the 19th inst., an account of the extensive farming operations of an "Adams county boy," which will interest many of his old friends:

One of the prominent features of Redwood is the "Paxton Farm," four or five miles south-east of this place. It is owned by J. Wilson Paxton, late of St. Paul, a very enterprising gentlemen, and one of the best citizens of the place. There are 1,000 acres under cultivation, and it is designed to "break up" almost the entire portion of the 8,000 acre tract as soon as possible. Mr. Paxton has all told upward of 15,000 acres of land in this vicinity, with enough timber to give each purchaser a sufficient tract of wood land to supply the demand for building, fencing, &c. He is preparing to set out with maple and cotton-wood trees on different parts of his lands, which in the course of four or five years will afford excellent protection against the wintry blasts. From the valley of the Minnesota he is having a large quantity of soft maple seeds gathered with which to plant the low lands and meadow lands. He is also preparing to build a large number of farm buildings on his premises, to let to persons desiring to cultivate portions of the land on shares. This will be a great convenience to farmers of limited means, who will thus be enabled to select "claims" and by renting cultivated land one person can acquire sufficient capital to equip their own quite comfortably. We have but paid a deserved compliment to Mr. P., because while he is a shrewd business man, and one for himself, by his enterprise and liberality he is and will continue to be a great benefit to the town and country. The sight of great mow-covering vast fields of land is to let them lie unimproved, to be advanced in value by the labor of small farmers in the vicinity. If such a system were practiced in this county, Redwood would receive a great detriment.

A fair article of coal has been found at Redwood, and a large body of superior mineral paint, which adds to the attractions of the region.

☞ Only 50 cents to hear the Germania. 1t

YORK SPRINGS ITEMS.—Messrs. Omet and Co., of Harrisburg, have leased the York Sulphur Springs. Everything about the premises has been fitted up, to make the place attractive and comfortable for guests. We understand that numerous applications have been made for rooms, and the probability is that the springs season will be unusually lively.

The Odds Fellows Hall, in York Springs borough, is rapidly approaching completion, and when finished will be one of the finest buildings in the county and a credit to the Lodge erecting it. It is three stories, the lower story to be occupied as stores, the second as a Town Hall, and the third as a Lodge room.

We understand that some fine Barns are in course of erection in the district—one by Michael Leer in Huntington, and one each by George Smith and Mr. Bushy in Latimore township.

Mr. C. A. Peacock is putting up a fine frame house in York Springs borough.

The farmers have commenced to make hay, and there is a promise of a fine yield.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Egbert Eckert, an old and highly respected resident of Mountpleasant township, this county, died very suddenly, on Saturday week. He had been to Gettysburg, and on his return homeward was attacked by a very severe cramp. He endeavored to reach his home as quickly as possible, but was obliged to stop at the house of Mr. Alexander Young, some distance from his residence, and Dr. Noel, of Bonaughtown, was called in, who immediately informed Mr. Eckert that he could do nothing for him, and that he must die, telling him at the same time that if he desired the aid of another physician, he should send for one. Dr. Hombaugh, of McSherrystown, was sent for, but before his arrival Mr. Eckert was a corpse. Deceased leaves a family and a large number of relatives and acquaintances to mourn his sudden demise.—Press.

☞ Don't forget the concert on Tuesday evening next. 1t

P. O. APPOINTMENTS.—Jesse Larew has been appointed Postmaster at Bermudian, vice T. M. Brenneman resigned. We notice the following new appointments in adjacent counties: Joseph Pierce, McSherrystown, York county, vice Frederick McSherry, removed; Hunter Patterson, Webster's Mills, Fulton county, vice John D. Myers, resigned; Henry Steichter, Scotland, Franklin county, vice W. Wallace, Jr., resigned; Mary E. Ralston, Waterside, Bedford county, vice Elizabeth Ralston resigned; Jacob Faltons, Cherry Grove, Bedford county, vice John Louderbaugh resigned; Wm. S. Kregar, Shedl's Bridge, Somerset county, vice Franklin B. Long resigned.

SPRINGS HOTEL.—The Springs Hotel has been completed, and the work of furnishing is going on rapidly. It will be under the management of Dr. G. D. SMITH, which is a sufficient guaranty that it will be well managed. Mr. B. B. HOWE, a gentleman of fine capacity, courteous manners, and large personal acquaintance, will have charge of the office as Clerk and Cashier.—The Hotel will be opened for boarders on Monday next, June 28. Terms, $20 per week; servants and children half-price; transient guests $4 per day. In all its appointments, it will be a first class Hotel.

☞ The letter of J. S. G., from Snow Hill, Md., came to hand too late for this week's issue.

GRAND CONCERT.—The Germania Orchestra, of Philadelphia, will give a concert in Agricultural Hall, on Tuesday evening, June 29. Admission 50 cents. 1t

DEDICATION CEREMONIES.—The work on the Soldiers' National Monument is progressing rapidly, and the contractor feels confident of having it up in time for the dedication ceremonies. In addition to the gentlemen heretofore announced to participate in the exercises, Maj. Gen. Meade, who commanded at the Battle of Gettysburg, has announced his purpose to be present, and has been assigned the duty of unveiling the statue.

We learn from Mr. Wills, chairman of the Committee, that arrangements have been made with all the leading Railroads, by which excursion tickets will be issued from Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Harrisburg, York, and intermediate points, good from Saturday, June 26, to Saturday July 3. An excursion train will leave New York on Tuesday morning the 29th, which will come through to Gettysburg, via Philadelphia, without change of cars. A similar excursion train will leave N. Y. on Wednesday morning the 30th. As many excursion trains will run from Philadelphia and Harrisburg as may be expected to accommodate persons wishing to attend the ceremonies.

Trains for Gettysburg will leave Boston at 9.00 P. M., Monday and Tuesday evenings; leave New York, on Tuesday and Wednesday, at 8.40 A. M.; Philadelphia at 11.50 A. M.; and arrive at Gettysburg at 6.35 P. M.; without change of cars.—Fare for the round trip from New York $10; from Philadelphia $5.70.

Excursion tickets will be issued by the Pa. Railroad and branches, Philadelphia and Erie, Northern Central, Hanover Branch and Gettysburg Railroads, at all their stations.

As these ceremonies occur during Commencement week, there will be an unusual demand for accommodations, probably beyond the capacity of the hotels.—Persons desiring to furnish boarding and lodging are requested to leave their names, with number of persons they can accommodate, with the Burgess, Col. C. H. Buehler.

A CARD.

The Board of Managers of the Soldiers' National Cemetery at Gettysburg, through its Committee of Arrangements, respectfully invite all the soldiers who were in the Battle of Gettysburg, and the Military, Civic and Municipal Organizations of the country, and the citizens generally, to participate in the ceremonies of the dedication of the Monument on the first of July.

Maj Gen. MEADE will perform the ceremony of unveiling the Statue, with a brief Address. Senator MORTON will deliver the Oration, and BAYARD TAYLOR a poem.—Rev. HENRY WARD BRECHER will make the opening Prayer, and Rev. Dr. SCHMUCKER the closing Prayer.

The National Union Musical Association of Baltimore will be present and render vocal music during the exercises at the Monument.

DAVID WILLS,
Ch'n Com. of Arrangements.

THE BEST.—Tonics have of late years gained rapidly in public estimation, and are far more generally employed by first-class physicians than they once were. The reason for this is that it is a generally established fact that wholesome tonics used in moderation daily for years do not loose their virtue, neither do they injure the system.—They act in fact like air and exercise, and not as "medicines," which are intended solely for attacks of illness. The BITTER PRINCIPLES, especially those of vegetable origin, all possess the common property of stimulating the appetite, strengthening the nervous system, and of imparting strength. Women generally derive benefit from them even more than men, their system being more liable to debility and exhaustion.—We have again and again in our experience seen the good effects of tonics where the eyes had grown dim and the cheeks pale, and the entire frame showed every indication of exhaustion, nervous suffering, and debility.

The best established bitters before the American public are beyond question those of Dr. Stoever, and this is equivalent to declaring that they are the best, since among the scores of really excellent bitters now current, a poor article has no chance of success whatever. The most ignorant person can tell at once by its effects, almost from a single dose, whether any bitters are good or bad. These of Stoever have been sold for thirty years, are composed of sixteen of the safest roots and herbs of a well-known tonic virtue, so skillfully selected and compounded with regard to their mutual effects, that it may be doubted whether any more perfect form of this medicine can be made.

Thousands of persons are exposed to or afflicted with fever and ague, bilious ague or other results of malaria. Let them remember that these bitters are as admirable in such cases, as for diarrhœa and cholera morbus, or any ordinary derangement of the stomach. Try them and be satisfied that they should be in the stores of every family, and the trunk of every traveler.

It is a favorable feature in the advertisement of the proprietors of Dr. Stoever's Tonic Herb Bitters, that no claims are made that they will cure every ill that flesh is heir to. The weakest intellect can hardly be imposed upon when told that this or that remedy will remove every form of disease in every stage, and yet we can not take up the majority of journals without encountering an advertisement declaring that this or that medicine is a nostrum which is a perfect apothecary's shop, and a whole college of physicians in itself, rendering all other cures useless. What is claimed for Dr. Stoever's Bitters is simply that they will act as a good tonic, and are capable of doing as much good as a preparation of bitter principle can. They will not cure incurable diseases, but they will often prevent a certain class of disorders from becoming incurable. The references and certificates issued in their favor are all true and honest, and of these there are hundreds.

FROM THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

LANCASTER, July 25, 1868.

KEYDER & Co.—Gentlemen: In reply to yours of the 23d inst., I would say that I have used Dr. Stoever's Tonic Herb Bitters extensively in my practice during several years past. I do not hesitate to say that I have found it to possess remarkable efficacy in cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Nervous Energy, as well as Fever and Ague, Diarrhœa, Headache and other diseases proceeding from a disordered stomach; and especially has it proved of inestimable value in general debility of the system, when other tonic medicines have failed to produce the desired effect.

Though reluctant to appear as recommending any particular advertised medicine, a sense of duty to the public and the medical faculty will not allow me to withhold my testimony to the merits of the Bitters in question. Yours, respectfully,

J. T. BAKER, M. D.

THE PLACE TO GO.—Do you want a good Smoke—either a prime Segar or the best brand of Smoking Tobacco—you will find it at BRINGMAN'S establishment in the North-east corner of the Diamond, who makes it a specialty to turn out the very best articles. Also, Chewing Tobacco of all kinds. Meerschaum Pipes, and all the articles desired by persons addicted to the use of the weed. He manufactures Segars largely, and is prepared to fill all orders promptly, and at lowest rates, wholesale and retail. [Address W. Bringman, Gettysburg, Pa. tf

PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE.—The Philomathaean Society will hold a reunion meeting on the afternoon of Wednesday, June 30th, 1869. An address will be delivered by a distinguished Honorary Member. Matters of importance will be suggested for consideration and the prospects of the Society presented and discussed. A very full attendance of the Honorary Members is desired and expected, that the occasion may be one of interest and profit to ever member of the grand old Philo Society.

READY FOR WORK.—We are requested by Mr. WILLIAM CHRITZMAN, who has for some months been engaged in superintending the erection of the Springs Hotel, now finished, that he is prepared to take contracts for the erection of new buildings and also all kinds of Carpenter work. He has the best of machinery, excellent hands, and will promptly attend to all persons wishing his services. 1t

BOOK NOTICES.

THE LADY'S FRIEND FOR JULY.—A beautiful engraving, called "My Native Land, Farewell!" leads off the July number of this excellent magazine. Then we have the usual elegant Fashion Plate, giving late Parisian styles; and a fine illustration of the poem, "In an Attic," by Florence Percy; followed by a number of engravings of ladies' bonnets, dresses, jackets, &c. The music this month is the Squirrel Polka. Among the literary contants we notice "Roland Yorke," by Mrs. Henry Wood; "The Luck of the Luckless," by Francis Lee; "Between Two," by Miss Elizabeth Prescott; "The Contested Wife," by Mrs. Hosmer: "Two of my Schoolfellows," by Mrs. Ames; "Little Charley," by Mary J. Allen; editorials, novelties, &c. Published by Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, at $2.50 a year (which also includes a large steel engraving.) Four copies, $6. Five copies (and one gratis,) $8. "The Lady's Friend" and "The Saturday Evening Post" (and one engraving,) $4.00. Specimen numbers sent for ten cents.

DEMOREST'S ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY.—This excellent Magazine now fulfills, as nearly as one Magazine can, all that a lady wants of one, as an assistant in her house, in her wordrobe, and in her care of her children. Every department is complete and perfect in itself, showing the immense amount of labor bestowed upon the whole. The "Ladies' Club" alone gives more sensible advice and information than all the rest of the Magazines put together. $3 per annum, with a premium. Published at 838 Broadway, N. Y.

DEMOREST'S "YOUNG AMERICA."—Young America is one of the most popular of juvenile publications; there is a freshness to it that we find in no other, and a variety that satisfies even the desire of children for novelty. One of its very best features is the interest it excites in children, by allowing them to appear as correspondents in its colums. It is well worth the small sum asked for it, of $.50 per annum, with a premium. Published at 838 Broadway, N. Y.

"PETERSON'S MAGAZINE," for July is before us. The present issue is one of the best we have ever seen. A capital steel engraving, "The Romance of a Boarding School," with a laughable story by Ella Rodman, leads off; then follows a mammoth colored steel fashion plate, with five full length figures; and then we have numerous wood-cuts of new bonnets, bathing dresses, &c., &c., &c., besides a score of patterns for the work-table, and also an alphabet for marking, printed in colors. The literary contents, as usual, are excellent. Mrs. Ann S. Stephens continues her popular novelet, "Marie Antionette's Talisman." Frank Lee Benedict has also a charming tale: and "Married by Mistake" is one of the best love stories we have read for a long while. Now is a good time to subscribe for "PETERSON." Terms, $2.00 a year. To clubs, five copies for $8.00, with an extra copy for a premium, and also the premium engraving, "The Star of Bethlehem." Specimen copies sent gratis to those wishing to get up clubs. Address Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

CHI PHI CHAREFT.—We have received the 2d No. of this sprightly issue, published annually at Lancaster Pa., by the Pennsylvania Chapters of the Chi Phi Fraternity. It is neatly printed, and contains a roll of the membership of the various Chapters, with a number of items of special interest to the fraternity. Among the associate editors for this year appears the name of J. F. Cressler, of Pennsylvania College. In the roll of members of the Zeta Chapter, we find the names of Hon. C. M. Duncan, Chambersburg, class of 1856; A. J. Cover, Esq., Gettysburg, and Rev. J. M. Mickley, McKnightstown, class of 1858; J. Finley Hoke, Gettysburg, class of 1869; J. H. Sechler, Hanover, class of 1870. In the Theta Chapter, A. J. Cover, Esq., Gettysburg, J. F. Cressler, J. L. Hill, jr., F. W. Mehaffey, J. M. Radebaugh, H. B. Sadtler, Mervin J. McCreary, Samuel McC. Swope, Amos N. Titus, Wm. C. Stever.

GOODEY'S LADIES' BOOK.—We have received the July No. of this popular family magazine. It is an old favorite, and like good wine, seems to improve with age. Besides the literary matter, always excellent and interesting, the July number contains the following illustrations: The Wreck—a steel plate. Colored Fashion plate, six figures. The Signal, a tinted picture. Fashions Exchange, a fine wood cut. Fashions Extension sheet, thirty-nine engravings. A Cottage, with plans; and twenty-two designs of useful articles in the work department. Among the contributors of first-class stories in this number, are Marion Harland, Ino Churchill, Helen Maxwell and Pique.

THE "RIVERSIDE MAGAZINE," for July, comes with a midsummer table of contents. "Snipe Shooting" is Gaston Fay's frontispiece. "A Tale of the Sunset Sea" is one of those pictured fairy poems by Miss Bishop, which readers of the "Riverside" have learned to look for. Mr. Stockton comes with further adventures of the droll fairy Ting-a-ling; the sketch of "Joan of Arc" is concluded; Mr. Benjamin tells us "How a Sail Boat is built and rigged," preparatory to telling how it is managed; "Papa's Story" contains more of the inimitable pictures by children; Nellie Eyster describes an historic block-house on Lake Erie; Hans Anderson slips in with his latest, freshest story, and the number makes a fine show with its two dozen pictures, large and small. Published by Hurd & Houghton, New York. $2.50 a year.

GETTING HORSES INTO CONDITION.

To put a horse in the best looking plight for sale, he should be fed on grain, or corn which has been soaked about 18 hours and then kept on cob till it has sprouted; it should be about three inches thick, and be turned over four or five hours, being watered sometimes to keep it moist, in short, treated just the same as raising wool barley prior to being put on the kiln to dry; barley in the hair grain for a horse, when sprouted, put one pound of sulphur, one pound of rosin and two pounds of fenugreek, and give two table-spoonfuls every second or third night, by shaking it among the feed or giving it in any mash the horse is fond of. Four ounces of antimony mixed with the above, and giving one tablespoonful, will give an increased lustre to the skin and will improve the very worst looking brute in existence. The exercise should be chiefly walking—no violent sweating and no long journeys.

When in the stable, on dry food entirely, some farmers recommend clover hay made from clover cut when the seed begins to shed, but this is very wrong; for that kind of hay is woody in the stems, and it has not only greatly injured the land by standing until it was so old, but it has a decidedly injurious effect on the horses—producing coughing, heaves, swelled heels and legs, and often inflammation in the eyes. The only way in which it can be given without dire results, is by cutting it into chaff and wetting it; served thus, and some meal mixed with it, there are those in the country who will call it "the perfection of hay."

Hay made from new grass will cause horses to dung rather looser, but when it is kept to be old hay it ceases to have that effect, and in England hay kept over till the second year always commands a higher price than "new hay." In that country, where grain does not ripen till a month later than in America, the grass is cut earlier by a month than it is here. For farm work, and any other slow work, it is not at all essential that any great importance be attached to any particular character of food.

Old dry stemmed grass, when made into hay, is doubtless best to be cut green wetted to make the digestion; and meal which has rather a scouring tendency, may help to carry off humors which would otherwise be engendered; but when good, wholesome, nutritious hay and oats are fed the horse should eat dry, for the saliva is the natural moisture to go into the stomach with the food, and it is not to be much better imitated in that state. A little good chaff mixed with the oats will, if not wetted, cause the horse to grind the oats closer, so that few will pass through whole.—Country Gent.

DARK STABLES.—An exchange says:—Any person who has felt the pain and inconvenience of coming suddenly from a dark room into the full blaze of day will conceive the necessity of lighting a stable in a proper manner. This is too often neglected in confined stables, and the consequences are most distressing to a humane observer. The poor horse, led suddenly to his work, shows his pain by unmistakable expressions, stumbles, and runs against anything that may happen to be near, until the eye has in some degree accommodated itself to the new circumstances under which it is placed. Nor is that all. By this continuance of this change, from darkness to sudden daylight, the eye becomes seriously injured. The retina, or sensible nerve, becomes dull, and more or less useless; the horse's sight is injured; he starts and shies at objects, which he sees imperfectly; and many a rider who has received a dangerous injury has had to thank his inattention to this simple cause, rather than any vicious habit of the animal, to which it has been attributed.

Blindness is almost certain to be caused by inattention to the above caution; but even blindness is less dangerous to the rider than imperfect sight. In the first case, the horse is forced to trust almost entirely to the bridle, but in the latter, objects only half distinguished terrify and startle, though they would under ordinary circumstances be passed without notice.

CANCER-CURE.—The Milwaukie Democrat recently noticed the case of Mr. Mason, proprietor of a music store in that city, —a brother of Lowell Mason—who was cured of a cancer upon his face, after the removal by the knife and the re-appearance of the disease. He was treated by a Cincinnati physician, after the process of Dr. Fell, of London, described as follows:

"A piece of sticking plaster was put over the cancer, with a circular piece cut out of the centre a little larger than the cancer, and a small circular rim next to it was exposed. Then a plaster made of chloride of zinc, blood root and wheat flour, was spread on a piece of muslin of the size of this circular opening, and applied to the cancer for twenty-four hours. On removing it the cancer will appear burnt into, and appear of the color and hardness of an old shoe-sole, and the circular rim outside of it will appear white and par-boiled, as if scalded by hot steam. The wound is now dressed, and the outside rim soon suppurates, and the cancer comes out in a hard lump, and the place heals up. The plaster kills the cancer, so that it sloughs out like dead flesh and never grows again."

The Rochester Democrat says this remedy has been used in that city successfully. The editor has seen a cancer which was removed entire from the face of an esteemed lady of that city.

HOW TO USE LIME AS MANURE.—"K. C. F.," Eddysville, Ky. We have more faith in large doses of lime than small. One hundred bushels per acre will often so change the character of the soil that the beneficial effects will be observed for twenty or thirty years. A convenient way to apply the lime is to plow the land and then as the lime is drawn from the kiln put it on the field in heaps 30 feet apart each way, and a bushel of lime in each heap. Then cover the heap with a few inches of soil, and as soon as the lime is slaked, spread the whole evenly over the land with a shovel, and harrow or plow it in, and sow the crop. This gives about one hundred bushels per acre, and as none of the lime has to be thrown more than ten feet, it is easily spread. We should prefer to use the lime on a summer fallow for wheat, as this affords more time to attend to it. But it may be applied to any crop. If your land is drained, naturally or artificially, and is well summer fallowed and then limed as above, you may expect good wheat and good clover, and no matter how much it is "worn," when you have got good clover you can easily make your land bring large crops.—American Agriculturist.

We should be glad to have the views of our Adams County farmers on the above point.

GO TO FARMING.—A good living is what comparatively few men succeed in making in village or city life, and yet nothing is more easy of accomplishment of the sort. Besides, there is a pleasure in cultivating and embellishing the earth, improving and increasing its products, and thus adding to the aggregate of human happiness. Why, then, should young men hesitate to be farmers? "It is both profitable and honorable. It is the nearest approximation to independence that a man, as a member of society, can make. A gentleman farmer—and all farmers are, or should be, gentlemen—belongs to a order of nobility that is not indefensible for installation, and may, if he chooses, be ranked among the greatest benefactors of the human race. So the next young man go to work on farms, and quit seeking office in fourth rate clearings. In short, go to farming and quit begging.

TRY THE

Star Bone Phosphate.

TO all agriculturists, therefore, who are in search of an active and permanent manure, and who may have the claims of this article presented to their notice for the first time, the manufacturers would suggest, that the

is worthy of their experimental trial, at last; past experience warranting the fullest confidence, that after having tried it, they will become one of the hundreds of farmers who now regard it as the cheapest and best manure in the market.

THE AMMONIA

is supplied abundantly from the organic portion of the bone.

PRICE $55 PER TON IN BAGS.

A Word to the Wise!

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

Renner's Chemical Fertilizer!

THE importance of a quick, active and durable Fertilizer, adapted to the soil of our county, is acknowledged by all Farmers. Having satisfied myself, after long study and careful experiment, that F. C. RENNER'S surpasses all others in adaptedness to all kinds of soil, I have purchased the right for Adams county, and am prepared to fill orders promptly and on reasonable terms. It is no humbug, but

Chemical Fertilizer

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY TRIED

by a number of our Farmers, and is admitted by all who have it for the best in the market, and the cheapest. I am prepared to furnish this Fertilizer in any quantity, and will deliver

In any town or village in the County, when ordered in not less quantity than a TON. I manufacture it for sale at $45 per ton with cartage, or $35 in bags. This fertilizer is composed of the best fertilizing chemicals that can be had. I use no oil of vitriol; it does not contain any ammonia, therefore I do not use it. Neither do I use lime nor ashes.

THE OBJECT OF THE CHEMICAL FERTILIZER

is to introduce a fertilizer that will last for a series of crops—not only for the present, but contain sufficient matter to mature the grain and make it ripen early, while the succeeding crops the growth. I expect to manufacture large supply this winter for the spring crops, and therefore invite farmers and the public generally to give a trial on all kinds of Grains and Vegetables.

☞Caution.—I hereby give notice that Farm Rights hereafter sold, unless signed by me, or instruments on my Right, and will be prosecuted and dealt with according to law, from which there is no escape.

☞All orders will be promptly attended to by addressing

GEORGE BENDER,
Bendersville, Penna.
